Part I

Family Preservation Services

The number of families and children accepted into Family Preservation Services (FPS) according to the Intake/Tracking System is different from the number of families and children referred and accepted in the Referral System because of the more complete capture of data in the Intake/Tracking System.

Introduction

FPS provides short-term crisis intervention services to families at the point at which one or more children are in imminent risk of being placed in out-of-home care. A child may be at-risk of placement because the child has been abused or neglected, is severely emotionally disturbed or has been involved in delinquent behavior.

Services are provided in the family's home or other natural setting for a period of four to six weeks. During that time the Family Preservation Specialist will work with the family, teaching problem-solving skills, teaching families how to cope with future crises without relying on harmful behavior, providing information to families regarding other sources of assistance and teaching family members life skills. The goal of FPS is to restore the family to the level of functioning prior to the crisis which threatened the child with placement and teach skills which will help them deal with future crisis in a more productive manner.

This Annual Report covers Fiscal Year 1995 (July 1, 1994 - June 30, 1995). The first part summarizes FPS activities and client characteristics for the state of Missouri. The second part provides similar information for individual FPS sites. The appendices provide information concerning the number of families referred, reasons families were not accepted, the number of children referred by imminent risk category, the number of families and children accepted, the number of families accepted by referral source code, the number of at-risk children accepted by planned placement prevented and the exit status of families exiting family preservation services during the fiscal year.

Throughout this report the number of families and children accepted into FPS according to the Intake/Tracking System is different from the number of families and children referred and accepted in the Referral System because of the more complete capture of data in the Intake/Tracking System.

Families Referred

According to the Referral System the Division of Family Services (DFS) received 3,358 referrals for Family Preservation Services during the past fiscal year. DFS accepted 52 percent (1,731) of these referrals. Forty-three percent (743) of the referrals accepted were from two sites: Jackson County (Site 701) and St. Louis City and St. Louis County (Site 702). Of the 743, 169 were from Jackson County, 394 were from St. Louis City and 180 were from St. Louis County (Appendix A).

Referrals Not Accepted

Forty-eight percent (1,627) of the families referred to FPS were not accepted. Thirty-two percent (520) of these were from Site 701 and Site 702. Of the 520, 332 were from Jackson County, 141 were from St. Louis City and 47 were from St. Louis County (Appendix A). Some of the reasons a family may not be accepted into FPS are: no immediate likelihood of placement; no opening in FPS; caretaker or child unwilling to participate; or child's safety cannot be assured.

Of the 1,627 families referred which were not accepted in FPS during Fiscal Year 1995, 21 percent (558) of the children had no immediate likelihood of placement. Nineteen percent (523) of the children were not accepted because there was no opening in FPS and the child remained at home. Seventeen percent (456) of the children were not accepted because the child's safety could not be assured and 14 percent (389) were not accepted because the caretaker was unwilling to participate (Appendix B).
